Can I Keep My Car?

For many people considering bankruptcy, this is one of their top concerns. Every person who files bankruptcy and has lived in Virginia the past two years gets a $2,000 vehicle exemption on one vehicle. That means if your vehicle is worth $2,000 or less over what is owed, we can protect it. In addition, if your vehicle has more than $2,000 equity, we can typically use a $5,000 wildcard exemption as well. If you have more than one vehicle with equity, we need to talk about that.

What if it is financed?

Before they changed the bankruptcy laws in 2005, you could simply elect to keep the vehicle and continue making payments. However, under the new law, you cannot officially do that. You must either surrender the vehicle, redeem (pay off what it is worth in a lump sum), or reaffirm. Most people want to keep their car, not surrender, and very few have thousands of dollars to redeem. Does that mean they must reaffirm?

Reaffirming only helps the car lenders.

Reaffirming basically means you are agreeing to be held to the terms of your original contract...same interest rate, monthly payments, amount due, etc. Once in a blue moon the finance company will agree to a better interest rate or lower the balance, but that is extremely rare.

The problem with reaffirming is that you are once again agreeing to be personally liable for the car loan. That means if you can't make the payments after your case is closed, the finance company can repossess the car, sell it for peanuts, and come after you for the difference. You'll have a repossession on your credit, even after bankruptcy had wiped it clean, and then it will take that much longer to re-establish good credit. The finance company will likely get a judgment against you and garnish your pay, and this is after you've already gone through bankruptcy!!

So what happens if you do not reaffirm? Look at your financing contract. If it says that the car company considers the filing a bankruptcy a breach of contract (and most contracts say that), technically they can demand the car be returned without a reaffirmation agreement. However, I've spoken to many other bankruptcy attorneys, and no one knows of a company actually doing this except for Ford. Think about it. Why would a car company want to repossess your car and get almost nothing at auction when you are making your monthly payments? That would be bad for business. If you simply continue making your payments and keep the vehicle, but don't sign the reaffirmation agreement, the finance company will probably not repossess the vehicle, and you can keep the car without the potential liability of a reaffirmation agreement.

Why do some people insist on reaffirming?

The main reason is usually this: they are more afraid of losing their car than the liability they are accepting – "But it's the only car I have to get to work."

I suggest going to several used car dealerships and finding out for yourself that even if the finance company does pick up your vehicle, which again, is extremely unlikely, you'll still be able to get a better car for a lower monthly payment anyway.

So what should you do?

My recommendation to you is not to reaffirm. If you want to keep your vehicle, I suggest you keep making the payments, but don't sign a reaffirmation agreement. But you must decide for yourself. If you do reaffirm, you have 60 days after you sign to change your mind.
